this book examines collecting around the world and how women have participated in and formed collections globally the edited volume builds on recent research and offers a wider lens through which to examine and challenge women s collecting histories spanning from the seventeenth century to the twenty first although not organized chronologically the research herein extends beyond european geographies and across time periods it brings to light new research on how artificillia and naturallia were collected transported exchanged and or displayed beyond europe women collecting and cultures beyond europe considers collections as points of contact that forged transcultural connections and knowledge exchange some authors focus mainly on collectors and what was collected while others consider taxonomies travel patterns of consumption migration markets and the after life of things in its broad and interdisciplinary approach this book amplifies women s voices and aims to position their collecting practices toward new transcultural directions including women s relation to distinct cultures customs and beliefs as well as exposing the challenges women faced when carving a place for themselves within global networks this study will be of interest to scholars working in collections and collecting
